PAPAVERI E PAPERE

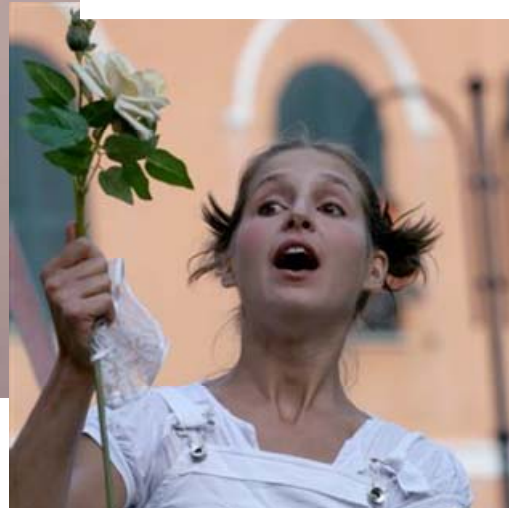

Fratelli Ochner

By and with

Lara Quaglia

Assistant Director

Alberto Barbi

Thanks to a trunk she carries around with her everywhere, Maria is able to transform each town square she finds herself in, and each street corner, into her own eccentric, surreal world. Her strongbox becomes an ark, or a house, and brings with it an infinite number of surprises, but if you expect the common-or-garden objects to have the customary uses and meanings for her, you can think again: Maria is a consummate artist. A collection of unusable chairs turns into the perfect support for a change in outlook and a trio of flying ducks astound us with classical dance choreographies. With the help of the audience, both children and adults, Maria's world reveals itself bit by bit as what it has been right from the start - a bizarre little circus to be immortalised in a photograph.

Vertical rope, trapeze and fabrics learned at Turin's Flic Circus School are the mainstay of her performance, but Lara Quaglia does not stop at the aerial disciplines. She's an actress and a dancer, who has attended improvisation and animation theatre workshops with Moretti and Cipolla, Butoh, contact, Egyptian and modern dance courses, mime and clowning courses, and she specialised in puppet theatre with Claudio Cinelli. As well as collaborating with the Ochner Brothers and the historic Lupi Marionette Company, she has gained experience in opera and in the Peppino Medini circus, too. The Fratelli Ochner have for a long time been famous for street theatre sustained by solid theatrical drama. Federica Sgoifo and Lara Quaglia work alongside the original group made up of Alberto Barbi, Paolo La Torre and Marco Pianelli.
